IFLA EUROPE REGIONAL MEETING: CONFERENCE AND GENERAL ASSEMBLY,
1st – 4th JUNE, BUCHAREST.

The general theme tackles a recurrent problem of the contemporary landscape but also one that is political and very actual. On one hand the landscape doesn't know any limits, borders, frontiers... It is a spatial and social reality that is fluid, overlapped and crossed. It is a continuous interference. In a world where walls are raised between countries, where we administer segmentary parcels and territory pieces, the landscape finds itself stranded and artificially cut by lines that only find their sense on administrative maps. On another hand the accessibility, the spatial mobility, migration of people animals and plants are central topics of contemporary design.
